

Public Complaint Response

Hello

I hope this is the right place to voice my complaint/concern, but otherwise please let me know.

I visited the Ooloolua Nature Trail on Saturday the 14th. Afterwards I started receiving emails from a man named Anthony Ntiita, who identified himself as the man working at the Ooloolua entrance, who had serviced me.

He asked for my phone number and asked me to come visit the trail again, seemingly so that we could meet again.

I find it very unprofessional that an employee would take advantage of his position, and contact me via information he would only have access to through his work, as I did not give him any contact information on my own. I am a young female solo traveller, and while his intentions might have been harmless and friendly, I hope you can understand how that was a very uncomfortable situation for me, as I now do not feel comfortable going back to the trails as I had otherwise planned.

Kind regards,
Maria Nordtorp

Hello Maria,

Firstly thank you for choosing and visiting the Ooloolua Nature Trail.
I acknowledge that Anthony Ntiita is our employee and I would like to apologise for the inconvenience caused to you. We appreciate client feedback and this issue will be dealt with the administration.
We hope you shall visit again as Ooloolua Nature Trail has more to offer.

Kind Regards,
Public Relations
