Background and introduction

The Kenya Institute of Primate Research (KIPRE) Human Resource Advisory Committee (HRAC), with the approval of the Director General, held a working retreat at the Wildlife Research and Training Institute, Naivasha, from 14th to 24th June 2026.

The purpose of the retreat was to develop guiding principles for the transition of KIPRE staff from the human resource policies, instruments, grading structure, and terms of service currently administered under the National Museums of Kenya to those of the newly established Kenya Institute of Primate Research (KIPRE), a State Corporation (SAGA) under the Ministry of Health, State Department for Public Health and Professional Standards. The retreat also sought to lay the foundation for the development of KIPRE's independent human resource framework to support its operationalization following its delinking from the National Museums of Kenya.

Objectives of the retreat

1. Formulating the principles of transition.
2. Applying and validating those principles.
3. Identifying and resolving emerging issues and challenges.

Opening remarks

The retreat commenced with opening remarks delivered by Mr. Patrick Manene, who was standing in for the Chairperson of the Human Resource Management Committee (HRMC), Dr. Lucy Ochola, who was en route to the venue after attending an official conference.

Mr. Manene welcomed all participants and reiterated the purpose of the retreat, emphasizing the importance of developing guiding principles to facilitate the transition of KIPRE staff to the Institute's independent human resource framework following its delinking from the National Museums of Kenya.

He further explained the rationale for engaging the State Corporations Advisory Committee (SCAC), noting that the Committee's technical guidance was essential in ensuring that the staff rationalization process complied with government policies, public service regulations, and established best practices for State Corporations.

He urged members to undertake the assignment objectively, transparently, and collaboratively, with a view to developing a fair and practical transition framework that would support the successful operationalization of KIPRE as an autonomous State Corporation. He then formally welcomed the SCAC team and invited them to facilitate the technical sessions of the retreat.

Proceedings and deliberations

The technical sessions of the retreat were facilitated by the SCAC team, which outlined the objectives of the retreat from the perspective of the transition of KIPRE into an autonomous State Corporation. The team emphasized the need to undertake the staff transition process in a manner that was fair, transparent, compliant with government policy, and aligned with the approved KIPRE organizational structure.

To facilitate the exercise, SCAC presented a staff transition and placement template that would guide the rationalization process. The template captured information under the following broad areas:

Current status

- Personal information (PF Number, Name and Date of Birth);
- Employment history (Date of first appointment, Designation and Grade at first appointment);
- Current employment details (Current designation, current grade, date of appointment to the current grade, years served in the current grade, academic and professional qualifications, terms of employment and current remuneration).

Transition and placement

- Proposed designation;
- Guiding principle used for conversion to the new designation;
- Proposed KIPRE job grade;
- Guiding principle used for conversion to the new grade;
- Proposed terms of appointment;
- Guiding principle for conversion of terms of service;

- Proposed basic salary and guiding principle used for salary conversion;
- Equivalent Civil Service grade for purposes of allowances; and
- Any additional remarks relevant to the transition.

Following the presentation, members of the Human Resource Management Committee (HRMC) engaged the SCAC team in extensive discussions on various policy and implementation issues relating to staff transition. The key issues raised included:

The status of officers appointed to contractual administrative positions, such as Director and Deputy Director, and the position they would revert to upon expiry of their administrative contracts before attaining the mandatory retirement age.

Determination of the date of first appointment, particularly for staff who had previously served under fellowship arrangements, casual employment, volunteer engagements, or other non-established terms before formal appointment. Members also sought clarification on whether service in other organizations prior to joining KIPRE would be recognized during the transition process.

Retirement age and career progression for employees serving under the co-mandate as well as those serving in administrative and support functions.

Transition arrangements for employees who were initially appointed as Technicians or Laboratory Technologists but had subsequently acquired the qualifications necessary to serve as Scientists.

The principles to be applied in determining the appropriate KIPRE job grade for each member of staff during the transition process.

Key resolutions and recommendations

Following the deliberations, the SCAC team provided the following guidance:

Officers serving in contractual administrative positions will, upon expiry of their administrative contracts, revert to their substantive grades and continue serving the Institute until retirement or other lawful separation from service.

Service rendered under fellowship, casual, volunteer or other temporary engagements may be considered during staff placement, subject to the guiding principles that will be adopted by the Committee. However, for officers who served in other organizations before joining KIPRE, only the experience acquired while serving at KIPRE will be considered for purposes of placement under the transition framework.

On retirement age, members were advised that the Public Service Commission has issued the applicable policy guidance through existing circulars, which should guide the implementation process.

Employees who were initially appointed as Technicians or Laboratory Technologists but have since qualified to serve as Scientists will be considered in accordance with the approved transition principles. The SCAC team noted that the transition template specifically captures the designation at first appointment to facilitate such considerations.

Staff will generally transition laterally into equivalent grades within the KIPRE structure. However, two exceptions were noted:

Officers currently serving in NMK Grade NM8 will transition to KIP Grade 7, consistent with the KIPRE grading structure where degree holders enter at KIP Grade 7.

Officers currently serving in NMK Grade NM13 will transition to KIP Grade 12, since the KIPRE grading structure does not have an equivalent Grade 13. Consequently, officers in NM12 and NM13 will transition into the same KIP Grade 12.

The SCAC team emphasized that the transition process would be guided by legality, fairness, consistency, and adherence to the approved KIPRE organizational structure and applicable Government policies.

Way forward and action points

Action	Responsibility	Timeline
Apply the agreed transition principles to all staff records.	HRMC Secretariat	Immediate
Populate the staff transition template for all KIPRE employees.	HR Section	Within two weeks
Prepare the draft transition report for HRMC review.	Secretariat	As agreed
Submit the final transition report to the Director General and Board for consideration.	HRMC Chairperson	Upon completion

Conclusion

The retreat successfully achieved its objective of developing guiding principles to support the transition of KIPRE staff to the Institute's independent human resource framework. The deliberations and guidance provided by the State Corporations Advisory Committee (SCAC) established a foundation for the subsequent staff rationalization and placement exercise. The Committee expressed its appreciation to the Director General, the SCAC team, and all participants for their commitment and valuable contributions towards the success of the retreat.
