RE: REQUEST FOR A RESOURCE PERSON TO SUPPORT INSTITUTIONAL DATA GOVERNANCE AND DATA PROTECTION SENSITISATION

The Kenya Institute of Primate Research (KIPRE) is undertaking the development and institutionalisation of an Institutional Data Governance Framework (IDGF), a key deliverable under the Institute's Strategic Plan 2023–2027, scheduled for implementation within the current financial year.

To guide this process, KIPRE has developed the Institutional Data Governance Framework Development Plan (IDGFDP), which provides a structured roadmap for progressively establishing and implementing the Framework across the Institute. An important initial activity under this Plan is the establishment of a network of Data Governance Champions drawn from the Institute's directorates, divisions, departments and sections. The Champions will support the identification of existing data governance practices, institutional strengths, operational gaps and priority areas requiring improvement. The findings will inform the subsequent engagement of a consultant to undertake a comprehensive data governance assessment and support the development of the initial Institutional Data Governance Framework.

In view of the legal and regulatory dimensions of this initiative, KIPRE kindly requests the Kenya School of Law to nominate one suitably qualified resource person with expertise in data protection law, regulatory compliance and institutional governance to support the planned engagement.

The proposed activity will comprise three complementary sessions:

1. Introduction to institutional data governance: This session will be jointly facilitated by resource persons from the Kenya School of Law and the National Commission for Science, Technology and Innovation (NACOSTI). It will establish a common understanding of institutional data governance, legal accountability and research-sector obligations.

2. Fact-finding engagement with Data Governance Champions: The two resource persons will jointly facilitate this session, with support from KIPRE's Data Science and Analytics Section (DSAS) and Data Protection Officer (DPO) Office. The engagement will identify existing data governance practices, institutional strengths, gaps, risks and priority areas requiring further assessment and improvement.

3. Staff sensitisation on the Data Protection Act, 2019: The resource person from the Kenya School of Law will lead this session, focusing on the Institute's legal obligations and the practical responsibilities of staff handling personal data. Key areas will include the lawful processing of personal data, confidentiality, data subject rights, institutional accountability and measures for strengthening compliance with applicable data protection requirements.

Through these sessions, KIPRE intends to strengthen the capacity of its Data Governance Champions, promote staff awareness of data protection obligations and establish a preliminary evidence base to inform the subsequent institutional data governance assessment and development of the Framework.

The proposed activities are tentatively scheduled for late November or early December 2026, subject to consultation and confirmation of availability with the Kenya School of Law and NACOSTI. The specific dates, programme and logistical arrangements will be communicated and agreed upon in consultation with the respective institutions.

KIPRE will liaise with the Kenya School of Law to agree on the logistical and facilitation arrangements for the nominated resource person, including any applicable professional facilitation fees and transport expenses, subject to the Institute's approved budget and applicable government financial regulations.

KIPRE values the opportunity to collaborate with the Kenya School of Law in strengthening institutional capacity in data governance, data protection and regulatory compliance. We would appreciate your favourable consideration of this request and the nomination of a suitably qualified resource person to support this important institutional initiative.

Please accept the assurances of our highest consideration.

Yours faithfully,
